

One material is a structured composite of other materials, each of which is a structured composite of other materials.